WHAT'S A DAY AT CAMP LIKE?

Campers meet in the morning in the Newmark Theater, and are introduced to the key creative words of the day. They also connect with each other by playing theater games. Then it's off to the first creative experience of the day in music, theater, dance, or art! The children work on stage in the Newmark Theater, the Winningstad Theater and all the spaces of the PCPA. Throughout the week each camper invents work in all of the art forms. Whether it's their own steps to a dance, a unique piece of visual art, a personal rendition of a theater "game," or a special rhythmic idea in music, every class offers each camper the chance for self-expression every day. And at the end of the day, the campers share their ideas and accomplishments with each other and with the faculty back in the Newmark Theater.

9 am - Noon:

Students become choreographers, painters, composers and playwrights. Through singing, movement, acting, drawing and other arts-related activities, they'll create new works of art daily.

Creativity + Fun

Noon - 12:30 pm:

B.Y.O.L. (Bring Your Own Lunch).

12:30 - 4:00 pm:

Student teams refine their newly created plays, dances, musical compositions and artwork, then use the performance skills learned that morning to present their works.
